

PRIMARY SCHOOL LEARNING RESOURCES

Are you looking for new ideas to get your pupils inspired by their local landscape, heritage and the environment?

We've developed a range of free materials for primary schools that provide everything that students and teachers need to be inspired to learn outside the classroom, with practical examples from our Heritage Lottery Funded project "A Forgotten Landscape".

The primary schools learning pack includes exciting ideas to enable students to learn about where they live both in the classroom and by exploring their local environment. The resources take advantage of a wide range of materials from oral histories to old photos and maps to inspire students to take part in adventures, become shopkeepers and design bridges. The activities have been designed and tested in collaboration with teachers and with the curriculum in mind, developing literacy, historical knowledge and scientific skills.

OUR AIM

Our aim is to inspire young people to develop a greater appreciation of the cultural and natural landscape in which they live. Our website provides full details and downloadable resources for many projects, including:

VILLAGE TRAILS

The teacher guide and case studies along with the student resources provide a complete guide to the process of creating an exciting trail.

ORAL HISTORY LITERACY PROJECT

These resources use oral histories from people living in the area to inspire students to develop their creative writing and descriptive writing skills.

SEVERN LEARNING MAP

This interactive map provides teachers with ideas, curriculum links and activities to support visits to local places of interest, such as Lawrence Weston Roman Villa and King's Weston House.

CROSSING THE SEVERN

This engineering project provides support for teachers to inspire their students to become the bridge builders of the future, using the Severn crossing as inspiration.

ANIMATED SEVERN

This case study enables teacher to see how students can re-imagine the landscape through people and animals.

PERSUASIVE WRITING

These resources enable students to reflect on the environment around them and how conservation is vital to our future.
